[Data to Nov. 1872.]

Mr. John Bright excused himself attending the Mayor's banquet at Birmingham, on the ground that the state of his health still rendered it necessary to avoid public dinners and speeches.

Archbishop Manning opened new schools attached to the Italian, or St. Peter's, Roman Catholic Church, London, and in the course of the interesting proceedings expressed the fervent desire that had filled him, ever since he took up his archiepiscopal charge, to "build up schools for little children all over London," to do which he had occasionally to be "troublesome to the good fathers of the Church."

Cardinal Cullen had addressed a letter to the Priests and other Catholic managers of the National Schools in Ireland not to sign without further consideration, the new form of agreement between masters and managers issued by the Commissioners. The document in question appeared to be intended to prevent teachers suffering from wrongful dismissal, but the Cardinal's letter indicated a suspicion that it was designed to establish the control of the clerical managers over the schools.

In the Court of Queen's Bench an attempt was made on the part of the Metropolitan Railway Company to set aside a verdict by which £1,400 was awarded to Mrs. Swanborough, the actress, in compensation for injuries received in a collision near South Kensington Station last autumn. Mr. Montague Chambers, Q. C., for the company, argued that the damages were excessive, and maintained that the jury had taken a sentimental view of the case; but evidence was given that Mrs. Swanborough's injuries on the face tended to impair her appearance when playing leading parts; and the Lord Chief Justice—the other judges concurring—after reviewing the facts, declaring that no cause existed for disturbing the verdict.

An extraordinary application awaited the judgment of Vice-Chancellor Malins. The plaintiff, a lady named Baker, came into possession of property worth £150,000, the whole of which, except an annuity of £100, she was induced by some means to entrust to a publican named Loader, since deceased, to invest on her account. The plaintiff knows nothing as to what has become of her money, and the bill was filed to obtain from the solicitor, or others who acted for Loader, or were concerned with him, a discovery of so much of it as still remained.

In honor of the birthday of the Prince of Wales, and in commemoration of His Royal Highness's recovery from the illness of last year, the Princess of Wales had presented to Sandringham Church, a new lecture, inscribed "To the glory of God. A thanksgiving, 14th December, 1871."—Alexander. "I was in trouble; I called upon the Lord, and He heard me."—Psalm cxx., v. 1.

A deputation from the National Chamber of Trade had obtained from the new Lord Mayor a promise to preside at a public meeting of the citizens to protest against the continuance of the income tax in its present form, and to demand an alteration in its incidence which would throw its weight on real property, instead of property in the course of realization. His lordship distinctly resorted, however, his own opinion on the question.

A conference on electoral reform was held at St. James' Hall, and followed by a public meeting. The object of the gathering—in which Sir Charles Dilke, Capt. Maxse, Mr. Wright, Mr. E. Jenkins, Mr. Arch, and others took part—was, in brief, to abolish the difference between the county and borough franchise, and to make the value of the vote more uniform throughout the kingdom by a redistribution of seats. At the evening meeting Sir Charles Dilke was the principal speaker.

A memorandum on the conduct of attack by a division in the new drill formation had been issued at Aldershot. The document goes into minute particulars as to the employment of the half-battalion in front and in flank attacks, recommends a combination of both methods of onset, and strongly impresses on the Major in command, the importance of readily adapting their movements to the exigencies of the moment, and acting on their own independent judgment.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

STREET, Oct. 25.—The great event of the month is the repair of the submarine cable between Port Darwin and Java, and the resumption of electric communication with London. The line was opened on the 22nd of October. The cable was laid, and was discovered about 230 miles from Java, and in 1,000 fathoms of water.

Mr. Parkes, our Premier, in anticipation of the blowing up he will have to submit to from the opposition about the Border duties, has chosen the 5th November (Guy Fawkes' day) for calling Parliament together, and that is about the only piece of political news worth giving. The Premier has been doing the "grand tour" through the Colony, and his proceedings have been conscientiously recorded by the reporter who was despatched from Sydney to follow his footsteps. Mr. Parkes made the usual grandiloquent speeches to the country folk, avoided business as much as possible, and was generally well received. The government was not very popular, and the population who have not got used to such things yet. The next thing our services friends expect is the comet.

The settlement of quarterly receipts and expenditure shows an increase of over a quarter of a million compared with the corresponding quarter of last year. The increase is principally in land sales and mineral leases. The new Government loan was successfully floated here at the beginning of the month. The Government wanted £200,000, and the tenders amounted to over a million.

It is stated through a New Zealand source that Mr. Webb has expressed his determination to carry his contract through.

A heavy gale on the coast and several wrecks, accompanied with loss of life, are reported. The steamer Queensland, while on the voyage from Brisbane to Sydney, was terribly knocked about, and the chief officer washed overboard and drowned. The vessel managed to get back to Brisbane.

On the morning of the 27th instant two prisoners escaped from New South Wales by scaling the wall.

A man named Bradstreet has been committed for trial on a charge of telling fortunes a fortnight ago, and is still in prison. The U. S. S. Taragonian reached Sydney a fortnight ago, and is still in port. The officers and men have been hospitably entertained.

The international rowing match, to come off at the Balmain regatta, is attracting considerable attention. The Melbourne crew is said to be weak, so that there is no probability of the tables being turned on New South Wales for some time to come.

The associated colliers have agreed to raise the price of coal. Prince Phillip, of Saxo Coburg Gotha, and Prince Augustus, arrived in Sydney yesterday, and put up at the City Hotel. There will be a good deal of talk during their stay.

QUEENSLAND.

BRISBANE, October 25.—The quarter's revenue shows an increase of £25,000, as compared with the receipts of the corresponding quarter last year.

French miners' discoveries have been made during the past fortnight, including a rich copper district.

The rush to Charles' Towers has proved a swindle, and many diggers who went up with only sufficient money to carry them there, now want the Government to take them back free of charge.

Captain Cook, of the schooner "Jason," has been found guilty of kidnapping, and sentenced to five years' hard labor in Brisbane Jail, and to pay a fine of £50 in addition.

Manama.

The Maude arrived down at 8:30 yesterday evening from Nanaimo, Cowichan and Salt Spring, with the following passengers:—

Judge Byrle, Mr. Robson, M. P. P., S. D. Lavi, G. Asher, Harrison, Copland, J. Kelly, Anthony, Geller, George, McDonald, Love, Oberon, Pamphlet, Miss Hoax, 6 Indians, and 2 Chinamen. She also brought down six tons of hay for Stifford & Hickin, 2000 feet lumber, produce, one calf, &c. The Victor from Honolulu arrived in Nanaimo harbor on Saturday. The Union was still at the quarry. A vessel was sighted off Entrance Island, supposed to be making its way on Monday evening and was largely attended. Addresses were made by Mr. Derick, Mr. Robson, M. P. P., and a few others. The fete passed off pleasantly. The fete was held on the body of James Stodart who was found dead in his cabin some six miles off the town, and a verdict of death from heart disease was the result of the post mortem examination. The body was in an advanced stage of putrefaction, and it is supposed Stodart died six or seven days previous to his being found.

James Stodart's Constituency.

A meeting of Mr. Robson's constituents took place at Nanaimo on Saturday night. Mr. Robson addressed the meeting, alluding to the proceedings of the last session, regretting that more had not been done, but hopeful that the coming session would see a greater amount of more useful and desirable work executed. He referred to the present Government, and stated his opinion as to their incapability to continue to hold office. He also reminded his constituents that he had been accused of "fishing for a portfolio," but he wished to inform them that such was not the case for he had in reality and once offered him by the Premier, which he had declined. The meeting was thinly attended, and little or no excitement or interest was exhibited with regard to it.

Hudson's Bay Company.

The Governor and Committee of the Hudson's Bay Company intend to recommend the payment of an interim dividend of 8s. per share, as against 5s. at the corresponding period of last year. A general court was to be held on the 26th November, for the election of a Governor, a Deputy-Governor and committee for the year ensuing.

The following is the report of the Governor and Committee, to be laid before the shareholders at the meeting on the 26th inst.:—The ships from Hudson's Bay have arrived, bringing with them the greater part of the returns of the outfit 1871. A considerable stock of valuable furs, being the produce of the Athabaska district, was also sent to the last advice being forwarded to New York for transmission to this country, and will, it is hoped, reach England in time to be included in the spring sales. The returns of the outfit taken as a whole, are satisfactory. The quantity of furs is somewhat greater than that of 1870, and it is encouraging to find that the returns of the Southern department include a large quantity of martens, which have recently been very scarce. Should the present prices of furs be maintained, the committee anticipate that this outfit will prove even more remunerative than the last.

Some sales of town lots belonging to the company have recently been effected at Fort Simpson, and the prices obtained have been good; but the committee have not yet received the full particulars of these transactions and are not in a position to report upon them.

The general accounts of the progress of the Company's trade are satisfactory, and the committee look forward to a favorable result of the year's transactions.

The Governor, Deputy-Governor and Committee offer themselves for re-election for the ensuing year.

Sandwich Islands.

We have dates to Nov. 30th. Fanny Morgan Phelps was playing at Honolulu; her troupe is on the way to Australia.

The plantations on Kauai have begun to take off their crops. On Hawaii a few will commence during the month, so by the first of January we may look for liberal shipments going forward.

Less produce has been shipped since the first of October, than has for any like period for many years.

The estate of Kahuku was disposed of at auction on the 14th, for the sum of $22,000. The estate was thought to be a liberal one, and the great south lake being full of lava, sometimes overflowing, presenting an unusually fertile surface.

Efforts are being made to organize an Immigration Society for the purpose of aiding and assisting immigrants and laborers into the country.

There is but little doing in a business way, aside from plantation work, which are large about this time of the year.

The Southern claims committee report 17,700 claims filed to December 1st. Their examination will require four years more.

Washington, Dec. 10.—Blanche Bay, the Turkish Minister here, has received a letter from the United States Government, asking a series of questions with regard to the Pacific railroads, condition and management, and their availability to Mohammedan commercial interests. A letter has been transmitted to the Secretary of the Interior, and Blanche Bay has prepared an answer.

New York, Dec. 10.—At White Plains, yesterday, the daughters of Greeley, with a few friends, accompanied by counsel, appeared before the Surrogate, to offer to probate the will of their father. This will was executed on the 28th November, 1872. It had been written by Greeley some time ago, but was only presented to him for execution two hours before his death. It gives all his property equally to his two daughters.

This instrument was placed amongst his private papers by Mr. Greeley, and was only taken from among them at the time of his death, and at the first lucid interval thereafter, offered to him for acknowledgment. At the same time, counsel were before the Surrogate to contest this will, and offering in its stead, one dated January 15th; the contestants are Samuel Sinclair, Richard H. Manning, and Charles Storrs; the latter being named as executor. The counsel for contestants said he hoped that opinions on the will would acquiesce in the will of 1872. He thought the will made by Miss Ida, providing that half of it was to be used by her at her own discretion for the support and education of her children, and the other half to be given to the children of her property intended for them. The counsel for the daughters thought those remarks uncalled for, and announced that Miss Ida had offered to assign to her sister one half of the property; also to grant similar authority to her other children, and then declined to consider any proposals for compromise, and proceedings were commenced. The contest of the will ended on the ground of incapacity to execute the will of 1872. The first witness to the will was Miss Sinclair, who testified that she became witness to the will on the day Mr. Greeley died. Mr. Greeley then, a few hours before his death, was conscious and reasonable. After some further examination of the witnesses, the Court adjourned. The will of 1872 gives the property to his daughters, but it also gives bequests to his relatives, and a legacy equal in value to a share of the Trust to the Children's Aid Society of New York.
